Spotlight on Sophomores

Name: Laura Harmon
Hometown: Limington, Maine

Major/Option: Business Administration with options in Accounting and Management (declared last semester).

Advice for choosing major: I knew exactly what I wanted to major in when I went to college, Accounting, but I had no idea how many other options were offered at Paul College. I recommend always looking into seeing if there's a second option that gives you more variety in your degree. Hence, I chose management to go with accounting to broaden my education in a different aspect of business.

Goals/aspirations: At UNH, I hope to gain a network of connections to help my accounting career when I graduate. Joining different business clubs and groups will allow me to expand my network to reach out to people who can offer me great opportunities. After college, like many of my classmates, my main goal is to find a job in the Boston area to start my career and grow from there. I also hope to study abroad for a semester in Europe to experience business in another country. I'm hoping to travel to Ireland or Budapest. Eventually I would love to be able to live in other parts of the country for business.

Internships: Internships are hard. Like the typical freshman last year I hit the internship fair and job sites hard. It's very difficult to get an internship until junior or senior year. Until then, I'm keeping my eye open and always checking the Paul careers page and other online sources. If I find a listing that is even slightly related to accounting or management, I apply to get my resume out there and try to contact someone in HR for more information.

Activities: On campus: I'm a brother of Alpha Kappa Psi, the professional business fraternity. I'm also a Peer Advisor at Paul College and have a work study job in the Dean's Suite for Donna Simpson.

Off campus: I'm a Grand Executive Committee member for the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls in Maine (a Masonic organization).
